Economy Car Rental in Los Angeles

In trying economic times, travelers are looking to save money on their trips. Whether the reason for travel is pleasure or business, many travelers require economy car rental in Los Angeles for the duration of their trip. In cities like Los Angeles especially, travelers must either rent a car or find themselves at the mercy of the mediocre Los Angeles public transportation system. Unfortunately, many of the big name brand car rental companies in Los Angeles have raised their prices over the years. Economy car rentals that used to go for under $20 per day are now $35 and up, making it tough to stay under a tight Los Angeles travel budget. Seeing that there were many people who required economy car rental who could not afford the higher rental rates, Executive Van SUV took matters into their own hands to provide Los Angeles and California travelers with a safe, convenient economy car rental option.

For only $25 dollars per day, Los Angeles travelers can enjoy driving through the city of Angels in a safe, newer model Toyota Corolla. The best part is that car renters can drive a whopping 200 miles per day without worrying about paying any additional mileage fees on their car. For leisure travelers, Executive Van SUV's economy car rental is the ideal way to freely explore Los Angeles and the surrounding vicinity. Enjoy traveling up to Santa Barbara or down to San Diego for the day without paying any additional mileage. The low economy car rental rates are ideal for both business and pleasure travelers alike, and are exclusive to Executive Van SUV Rental.
